

MIXING ZONE:

A Fancy Way To Say – Killing Zone

First, Northern Dynasty said they wouldn't use cyanide at Pebble Mine.

Then, Northern Dynasty backed away from that statement.

Now, the mining industry is supporting the creation of "mixing zones" in Alaska's spawning streams.

Northern Dynasty is telling us that they will be so environmentally careful that there is no concern for local fisheries. Then why would the industry need mixing zones that would allow pollution discharges in fish spawning and rearing habitats?

Maybe Northern Dynasty and Bristol Bay are like poison and water.

I'm ready for a fish fight!
